

CATHOLIC SCHOOLS
CENTER OF EXCELLENCE

Gail J. Dorn

President, Catholic Schools Center of Excellence (CSCOE)

Gail Dorn serves as President of a newly formed and independent non-profit, the Catholic Schools Center of Excellence (CSCOE), which is focused on improving excellence and enrollment for the 79 preschool-8th grade Catholic schools in the Archdiocese of Minneapolis/St. Paul.

Previously, Gail served as a senior executive with Target in the areas of communication, PR, philanthropy and marketing. She was the primary spokesperson for all public and media-related communications and has extensive experience in organizational development, strategic planning and human resource management.

Dorn serves as a trustee on many local and national education and arts boards. She has consulted with Fortune 100 corporations and public and private foundations and serves as an advisor to numerous nonprofit organizations in the areas of strategic planning and branding.

She and her husband are both products of Catholic schools. They have five grown children and three grandchildren.

About the Catholic Schools Center of Excellence

Established in 2015 and located in Minneapolis, the Catholic Schools Center of Excellence (CSCOE) is a 501(c)(3) non-profit organization with a simple two-part mission: to help Catholic elementary schools within the Archdiocese of St. Paul and Minneapolis achieve and maintain excellence while increasing student enrollment. Our approach is to share innovative ideas, sound business practices, proven strategies and financial resources to help meet each school's specific business, academic and spiritual goals. We want each of our 79 preschool-8th grade Catholic schools to be excellent in every way as they form intelligent, well-rounded, and faith-filled leaders for tomorrow.

CATHOLIC SCHOOLS
CENTER OF EXCELLENCE

For more information, we invite you to visit our website: cscoe-mn.org.